

Job watch: Our weekly round-up of job vacancies nationwide

26/02/2009

THE Town Hall in Dover will host a jobs fair on Tuesday, March 3, from 10am to 3pm, highlighting vacancies in a range of sectors from office administration and retail to health and social care as well as industrial sectors and HM Prison Service.

Jobcentre Plus will also have advisers on hand to offer advice on applying for jobs and information on the help available to those starting work. For details, call 01304 866140.

THE Theatre Mwldan, Bath House Road in Cardigan, Wales, will also play host to a jobs fair next week – on Wednesday, March 4, from 11am to 3pm.

Exhibitors include Ceredigion Council, the NHS, Quay West Holiday Park and Gwersyll Yr Urdd residential education centre. There will also be a range of advice available for jobseekers, especially lone parents and people with health conditions. For more information, call 01970 653107.

ESSEX company Rowan International, which supplies goods to discount stores, is recruiting staff to work in its warehouse in Basildon, Essex, as well as graduate trainees who have a good command of a second language. For more information on the opportunities, visit their web site at www.rowaninternational.com and click on the careers section.

ARE you launching a new business or considering becoming your own boss?

Business South 2009, which is coming to St Mary's Stadium in Southampton next week on March 4 and 5 covers everything you need to know about running and growing a business.

There will be dozens of exhibitors on display as well as a programme of seminars, a business advice zone and speed networking. There will also be representatives from BBC's Dragons' Den inviting pitches from brave, budding entrepreneurs.

The exhibition runs from 10am to 5pm on Wednesday and 10am to 4pm Thursday with free entry. Find out more and register in advance by visiting www.business2businesshows.com/business-south-2009.

IN New Brighton on the Wirral on Thursday, March 5, the Floral Pavilion is hosting a Fifty Enterprise event, from noon to 7pm, for over-50s who would like to learn more about launching a business.

The event will feature workshops, a business marketplace, including everything from banks to start-up specialists, and seminars by local entrepreneurs hosted by Roger Phillips and Linda McDermott from BBC Radio Merseyside. Check out www.egertonhouse.co.uk for more information.
